

Do You Want to Know Both Sides?

Swift & Company's 1919 Year Book, just out, tells you

- What Swift & Company's profits were in 1918,
- The truth about the Federal Trade Commission's investigation,
- Why the prices of butter and eggs are so high,
- And many other vital facts.

Whether or not you agree with us after reading this Year Book, you will at least know both sides.

You will find it interesting; Americans like to hear about big things done in a big way.

You will also discover that we are merely human beings like yourself, doing in the best possible way a necessary service.

Legislation is pending in Washington; as a good American citizen you want to know both sides of this question. It concerns you, as well as one of the most important industries in the country.

Do not hesitate to send for a copy of this booklet. Your name and address are all we need.

GERMAN SHELL CAUSE OF AN INTERMISSION

Slight Interruption to Baseball Game Behind Firing Line.

Tore Big Hole in Ground and Otherwise Messed Up Field, but Nobody Was Hurt, and Sport Was Resumed in Few Minutes.

The diamond was no diamond at all. It was only a Lorraine pasture with the bumps cut off and the holes filled in to give a smooth surface. Two nines in khaki were battling for the championship of the Vosges, or something like that.

From the woods behind the first base big guns were speaking at intervals. The shells went whistling over the field to carry their messages of death to the enemy. From the other side of the distant hills came the booming of artillery in reply.

Sounds like a poor day for a game, doesn't it? But on that morning the Y. M. C. A. athletic director of the district had ridden eight kilometers on his bicycle to bring bats, balls, a catcher's glove, a mask and a few fielders' mits, and the young men in khaki were going to break them in whether or not the whole German army was just around the corner.

Came the sixth inning. The Woodleys had gone out in one, two, three order and the Hickory-Hacks were walking in from the field. The umpire, standing behind the plate as all fearless umpires should (besides, it's nearest to the dugout if the crowd gets boisterous) was calling for a little pepper.

"Shake a leg, you birds," he was saying, "or the war'll be finished before this game is."

The next instant he was flat on his stomach. So was everybody else round about, for right behind second base there plunged a shell which bore the label of "Made in Germany." The explosion tore a hole in the ground and otherwise messed up the field.

"Anybody hurt?" yelled the umpire as he got up cautiously after a minute or two. "Nope? All right, then, shake a leg."

Quickly, after they had salvaged every piece of shell in sight as souvenirs, the players filled the hole, the umpire dusted off the plate, put on his mask and cried:

"Play ball."

YOST DOES NOT FAVOR GOLF

Ancient Game Requiring Silent Cheering Gets on Nerves of Veteran Football Coach.

Fielding H. Yost, noted Michigan football coach, was asked why he did not play the golf game. "I saw one and the experience I had was enough to cure me," said Yost. "A friend of mine was in a tournament and invited me to watch him in the final match for the championship. It was even up until the sixteenth hole. Then my friend made a twenty-foot put and was one up. Right away I broke into a first-class rah-rah cheer for him, but hardly had I let loose when one of the club officials grabbed my arm and said: 'My friend, please remain perfectly quiet. Remember your golf etiquette.'

"But," I protested, "that shot my friend just made was a lu-lu and it deserves applause."

"This is a golf course, and not a gridiron," was the answer. "On a football field it may be perfectly proper to give loud voice to your feelings, but on the links silent cheering is the rule."

"From then on," said Yost, "I decided I was off any game where a fellow must confine himself to that internal hurrahing."

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

MIGHT HAVE USED A FUNNEL

Little Sister Was Not as Resourceful as Her Hungry Brother Could Have Wished.

Little Pete had been a very bad boy. His father had heard him using some unusually lurid cuss words, and in order to punish him had placed the lad under a barrel, there to remain without his dinner.

But sister Annabelle Marie felt so sorry for brother Petey she resolved to go to him and try to console him.

"Couldn't you get me something to eat?" asked Petey, through the bung-hole.

"I'll go and see," said Annabelle Marie.

In a few moments Annabelle Marie came back and said through the bung-hole:

"I'm sorry, Petey, but the only thing I could find was some bean soup and some custard pie."—Youngstown Telegram.
